

Ailis inghean Uí Riagáin
Beekeeper & Webminister

*Historical Research & Botanical Archivist
Barony of the Sacred Stone, Atlantia*

AilisRiagainSCA@gmail.com

Welcome & Resource Directory: The Satyrion Chronicles

Welcome to the digital companion repository for our session. This shared folder serves as a centralized archive housing the core presentation materials, primary source documentation, and research networks supporting our study of pre-17th-century botanical history.

Please utilize this document as a primary navigation map for the files included here and the broader digital infrastructure backing this project.

1. Directory of Shared Materials

The following files are located directly within this shared Google Drive folder and are organized sequentially to guide your review:

File/Resource Name	Document Type	Purpose & Description
The Potted Historian Links & Info	Google Doc	Start Here. This dynamic readme index, containing structural descriptions and master external research links.
Satyrion-chronicles v1. pdf	PDF Document	The complete, compiled research volume. Ideal for deep-dive reading, printing, and permanent offline archiving.
Volume I Slide Deck	Slides	Slide Deck for Class

2. Digital Archives & Research Hubs (The Potted Historian)

For expanded study into historical botany, Renaissance herbals, and orchid folklore, you can access the primary web repositories below:

- Main Research Portal: The Potted Historian Website — Central repository for formal research essays, monographs, and historical documentation projects.
- Research Notebook & Articles: The Potted Historian Blog — Regular archival dispatches detailing pre-17th-century botanical folklore, orchid naming histories, and herbal reconstructions.
- Social & Community Engagement: The Potted Historian Facebook Page — An active digital space for open community discussion, public history updates, and real-time project media.

3. Technical Infrastructure & Open Source Code

The data workflows, automation systems, and digital repository frameworks powering these botanical research projects are entirely open-source:

- Code Repositories: The Potted Historian GitHub — The open-source code and automation scripts backing my projects, including the source files for The Satyrion Chronicles, our local baronial digital archives, and my custom orchid management system tracking scripts.

4. Curricula Vitae & Historical Administration

For context regarding peer-reviewed living history administration, historical recreation performance, and professional technical support backgrounds:

Living History & Recreation Profile

- SCA Profile & History: Ailis inghean Uí Riagáin Atlantia Wiki — A community wiki page that tracks my background, past office tenures, and activity within our regional living history group.
- SCA Resume: SCA Professional Resume Document — A comprehensive look at my service history, technical focus areas, and the digital systems I manage to support our kingdom and barony.

Mundane Professional Profile

- Professional Profile: Mundane LinkedIn Profile — A look at my day-to-day professional background working in technical systems support, data informatics, and analytical problem-solving.

5. Contact & Continuing Research

Thank you so much for joining our session! If you have any follow-up inquiries regarding the primary source research within The Satyrion Chronicles, or if you just have questions about orchid care, greenhouse upkeep, and cultivating these fascinating plants at home, please don't hesitate to reach out. I am always happy to share tips, compare notes, or help you track down a historical reference. Please feel free to send an email anytime to AilisRiagainSCA@gmail.com, and let's keep the conversation growing!